INDEX Author & Subject

Volume 6

Author Index

Achilles, C. M., Research, "Direct contact is preferred means of communicating with the public," No. 1, p. 38

Amundson, Kristen, J., "Making the most of parent volunteers—Successful parental involvement programs take careful planning and administration," No. 3, p. 25

Anderson, R. E., Research, "Board members emphasize communication factors when selecting a superintendent of schools," No. 3, p. 36

Baker, Robert L., "An editor's 99-point communication audit—A review of the criterion for publication excellence," No. 4, p. 8

Banach, William J. "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Bangert, Jan, "Enlightened self-interest—The new link between schools and the business-industrial community," No. 3, p. 8

Barber, Tricia, Research, "Board presidents and superintendents assess importance of PR policy descriptors," No. 4, p. 36

Boren, Judi, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Bridges, Robert C., "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Brodinsky, Ben, "Building morale . . . motivating staff," No. 4, p. 16

Burnett, Kenneth, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Carr, David A., "Principals and school-community relations: A status report," No. 1, p. 4

Cleveland, Clem, "Computers in the PR office—A detailed primer on how to select and use the best computer system for your office," No. 4, p. 20

Constant, Ruth L., Research, "Knowledge, honesty most important characteristics," No. 1, p. 37

Dierksen, Carolyn, Research, "PR people on the 'team' have increased responsibility," No. 2, p. 34

Dorsey Jr., W.O.P., "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Ellison, Bonnie, "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12; "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Flannery, Joseph E., "Low and no cost communications to make a school principal's life easier," No. 3, p. 20

Flatt, Joanie, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Franks, Cass, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Gainous, Phillip, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Goble, Nick, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Goodman, Richard H., "A coalition for equity—New Hampshire people work to eliminate inequities," No. 3, p. 28

Greenburg, Lenore, "Build an informed constituency for public education," No. 1, p. 8

Hinojosa, David, Research, "Participation improves student-school retention," No. 3, p. 37

Holliday, Albert E., "Mobilizing the media: Practical ways to work effectively with newspapers, radio and TV stations," No. 4, p. 4; "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Hyder, L. R., Research, "Direct contact is preferred means of communicating with the public," No. 1, p. 38

Jackson, Mary C., "School advisory councils—A bridge between school and community," No. 2, p. 18

Johnson, Joseph E., "Boost attendance by an award program and create excellent PR," No. 3, p. 22

Jones, William J., "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12.

Kazemzadek, Linda D., Research, "Role of PR director different if on the administrative team," No. 3, p. 37

Kessler, Mary House, "School advisory councils—A bridge between school and community," No. 2, p. 18

Kinder, Jack, "The give-and-take of school decision-making," No. 1, p. 10

Lilley, H. Edward, Research, "Colleges may have more than one image," No. 1, p. 39

Lindskog, Mary, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Lows, Raymond L., "Principals and school-community relations: A status report," No. 1, p. 4

Lutz, J. P., "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Mackett, Muriel, "Case study response . . . Incompetence for votes—A district held hostage," No. 1, p. 36

Magmer, Jeanne, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Maines, Joe M., "Case study response . . . Beware of motives regarding letters to the editor," No. 4, p. 33

Marx, Gary, "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Masse, Bernard, "Enlightened self-interest—The new link between schools and the business-industrial community," No. 3, p. 8

Meritt, Darrellyn, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Meyer, Robert E., "A tale of two superintendents—A case study of the worst and best of times," No. 2, p. 20

Nasstrom, Roy E., "The hazards of letters to the editor—A case study," No. 3, p. 33

Oberg, Terry, Research, "Knowledge, honesty most important characteristics," No. 1, p. 37; "District information, media relations and newsletters seen as top PR activities," No. 4, p. 38

Ostrow, Barry J., "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12; "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Parnell, William G., Research, "Colleges may have more than one image," No. 1, p. 39

Pierce, Judy C., Research, "Home reading programs help improve school-community relations," No. 3, p. 36

Rainey, Malcolm, Research, "School leaders rate communication skills tops," No. 1, p. 37

Robinson, Thomas E., "PR can grow out of the classroom . . . if it receives nourishment," No. 1, p. 12; "Book Reviews," No. 1, p. 40, No. 2, p. 9, No. 3, p. 30, No. 4, p. 34

Sava, Samuel G., "Public relations must be a daily concern of administrators," No. 2, p. 26

Schwartz, Elizabeth Farmer, "Computer enrichment program produces internal-external relations benefits," No. 3, p. 4

Schwartz, Walter C., "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Shephard, Linda, "Develop individual school PR programs—A checklist approach to effective publicizing of school activities," No. 3, p. 12

Smoker, Dave, "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Stone, Franklin D., "Case study response . . . Fenton missed a great chance to teach," No. 3, p. 35

Thomson, Scott D., "Needed: A crusade to change the image of the superintendent," No. 2, p. 25

Tolson, Robin B., Research, "Supts., directors of service centers differ on PR priorities," No. 2, p. 35

Weber, Jessica, "Defend yourself against paper—The secret is to handle each piece of paper only once," No. 3, p. 15

Wherry, John H., "PR and public schools—Are

INDEX Author & Subject

Volume 6

Author Index

Achilles, C. M., Research, "Direct contact is preferred means of communicating with the public," No. 1, p. 38

Amundson, Kristen, J., "Making the most of parent volunteers—Successful parental involvement programs take careful planning and administration," No. 3, p. 25

Anderson, R. E., Research, "Board members emphasize communication factors when selecting a superintendent of schools," No. 3, p. 36

Baker, Robert L., "An editor's 99-point communication audit—A review of the criterion for publication excellence," No. 4, p. 8

Banach, William J. "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Bangert, Jan, "Enlightened self-interest—The new link between schools and the business-industrial community," No. 3, p. 8

Barber, Tricia, Research, "Board presidents and superintendents assess importance of PR policy descriptors," No. 4, p. 36

Boren, Judi, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Bridges, Robert C., "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Brodinsky, Ben, "Building morale . . . motivating staff," No. 4, p. 16

Burnett, Kenneth, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Carr, David A., "Principals and school-community relations: A status report," No. 1, p. 4

Cleveland, Clem, "Computers in the PR office—A detailed primer on how to select and use the best computer system for your office," No. 4, p. 20

Constant, Ruth L., Research, "Knowledge, honesty most important characteristics," No. 1, p. 37

Dierksen, Carolyn, Research, "PR people on the 'team' have increased responsibility," No. 2, p. 34

Dorsey Jr., W.O.P., "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Ellison, Bonnie, "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12; "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Flannery, Joseph E., "Low and no cost communications to make a school principal's life easier," No. 3, p. 20

Flatt, Joanie, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Franks, Cass, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Gainous, Phillip, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Goble, Nick, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Goodman, Richard H., "A coalition for equity—New Hampshire people work to eliminate inequities," No. 3, p. 28

Greenburg, Lenore, "Build an informed constituency for public education," No. 1, p. 8

Hinojosa, David, Research, "Participation improves student-school retention," No. 3, p. 37

Holliday, Albert E., "Mobilizing the media: Practical ways to work effectively with newspapers, radio and TV stations," No. 4, p. 4; "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Hyder, L. R., Research, "Direct contact is preferred means of communicating with the public," No. 1, p. 38

Jackson, Mary C., "School advisory councils—A bridge between school and community," No. 2, p. 18

Johnson, Joseph E., "Boost attendance by an award program and create excellent PR," No. 3, p. 22

Jones, William J., "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12.

Kazemzadek, Linda D., Research, "Role of PR director different if on the administrative team," No. 3, p. 37

Kessler, Mary House, "School advisory councils—A bridge between school and community," No. 2, p. 18

Kinder, Jack, "The give-and-take of school decision-making," No. 1, p. 10

Lilley, H. Edward, Research, "Colleges may have more than one image," No. 1, p. 39

Lindskog, Mary, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Lows, Raymond L., "Principals and school-community relations: A status report," No. 1, p. 4

Lutz, J. P., "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Mackett, Muriel, "Case study response . . . Incompetence for votes—A district held hostage," No. 1, p. 36

Magmer, Jeanne, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Maines, Joe M., "Case study response . . . Beware of motives regarding letters to the editor," No. 4, p. 33

Marx, Gary, "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Masse, Bernard, "Enlightened self-interest—The new link between schools and the business-industrial community," No. 3, p. 8

Meritt, Darrellyn, "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Meyer, Robert E., "A tale of two superintendents—A case study of the worst and best of times," No. 2, p. 20

Nasstrom, Roy E., "The hazards of letters to the editor—A case study," No. 3, p. 33

Oberg, Terry, Research, "Knowledge, honesty most important characteristics," No. 1, p. 37; "District information, media relations and newsletters seen as top PR activities," No. 4, p. 38

Ostrow, Barry J., "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12; "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Parnell, William G., Research, "Colleges may have more than one image," No. 1, p. 39

Pierce, Judy C., Research, "Home reading programs help improve school-community relations," No. 3, p. 36

Rainey, Malcolm, Research, "School leaders rate communication skills tops," No. 1, p. 37

Robinson, Thomas E., "PR can grow out of the classroom . . . if it receives nourishment," No. 1, p. 12; "Book Reviews," No. 1, p. 40, No. 2, p. 9, No. 3, p. 30, No. 4, p. 34

Sava, Samuel G., "Public relations must be a daily concern of administrators," No. 2, p. 26

Schwartz, Elizabeth Farmer, "Computer enrichment program produces internal-external relations benefits," No. 3, p. 4

Schwartz, Walter C., "Practical approaches to PR at the local level," No. 2, p. 28

Shephard, Linda, "Develop individual school PR programs—A checklist approach to effective publicizing of school activities," No. 3, p. 12

Smoker, Dave, "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12

Stone, Franklin D., "Case study response . . . Fenton missed a great chance to teach," No. 3, p. 35

Thomson, Scott D., "Needed: A crusade to change the image of the superintendent," No. 2, p. 25

Tolson, Robin B., Research, "Supts., directors of service centers differ on PR priorities," No. 2, p. 35

Weber, Jessica, "Defend yourself against paper—The secret is to handle each piece of paper only once," No. 3, p. 15

Wherry, John H., "PR and public schools—Are

we at a turning point?," No. 2, p. 4
West, Philip T., "The Point of the Dart—A case study of the well-intentioned student newspaper advisor," No. 1, p. 31; "The trouble bubble—A case study of the Rockford secretarial staff conflict," No. 4, p. 30; Research, "School district size has little effect on policy opinions of PR directors," No. 4, p. 36; Research, No. 1, p. 37, No. 2, p. 34, No. 3, p. 36, No. 4, p. 36
Whisler, Norman L., Research, "PR activities no panacea for changing opinion," No. 3, p. 39
Williams, Harry, "Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," No. 2, p. 12
Zimmerman, Sam, "The 1984 PR/Planning Guide," No. 4, p. 11

Subject Index

Administration
"Low and no cost communications to make a school prinicpal's life easier," Joseph E. Flannery, No. 3, p. 20
"Principals and school-community relations: A status report," David A. Carr & Raymond L. Lows, No. 1, p. 4
"Public relations must be a daily concern of administrators," Samuel G. Sava, No. 2, p. 26

Case Studies
"The hazards of letters to the editor," Roy E. Nasstrom, No. 3, p. 33
"The point of the dart," Philip T. West, No. 1, p. 31
"A tale of two superintendents," Robert E. Meyer, No. 2, p. 20
"The trouble bubble," Philip T. West, No. 4, p. 30

Case Studies Responses
"Beware of motives regarding letters to the editor," Joe M. Maines, No. 4, p. 33
"Fenton missed a great chance to teach," Franklin D. Stone, No. 3, p. 35
"Incompetence for votes: A district held hostage," Muriel Mackett, No. 1, p. 36

Communication Processes
"A coalition for equity—New Hampshire people work to eliminate inequities," Richard H. Goodman, No. 3, p. 28
"Defend yourself against paper—The secret is to handle each piece of paper only once," Jessica Weber, No. 3, p. 15
"Develop individual school PR programs—A checklist approach to effective publicizing of school activities," Linda Shephard, No. 3, p. 12
"Excellent vs ok PR—What are the differences between a super communication program and a so-so one," William J. Banach, W.O.P. Dorsey, Jr., Bonnie Ellison, J. William Jones, Gary Marx, Barry J. Ostrow, Dave Smoker & Harry Williams, No. 2, p. 12
"Mobilizing the media: Practical ways to work effectively with newspapers, radio and television stations," Albert E. Holliday, No. 4, p. 4
"Practical approaches to PR at the local level," Robert D. Bridges, Judi Boren, Kenneth Burnett, Philip Gainous, J. P. Lutz, Darrellyn Meritt, Barry J. Ostrow & Walter Schwartz, No. 2, p. 28
"PR and public schools—Are we at a turning point?," John H. Wherry, No. 2, p. 4

External Publics
"Build an informed constituency for public education," Lenore Greenburg, No. 1, p. 8
"Enlightened self-interest—The new link between schools and the business-industrial community," Bernard Masse & Jan Bangert, No. 3, p. 8
"The give-and-take of school decision-making," Jack Kinder, No. 1, p. 10
"Making the most of parent volunteers—Successful parental involvement programs take careful planning and administration," Kristen J. Amundson, No. 3, p. 25
"School advisory councils—A bridge between school and community," Mary C. Jackson & Mary House Kessler, No. 2, p. 18

Internal Publics
"Boost attendance by an award program and create excellent PR," Joseph E. Johnson, No. 3, p. 22
"Building morale . . . motivating staff," Ben Brodinsky, No. 4, p. 16
"Computer enrichment program produces internal-external relations benefits," Elizabeth Farmer Schwartz, No. 3, p. 4
"Needed: A crusade to change the image of the superintendent," Scott D. Thomson, No. 2, p. 25
"PR can grow out of the classroom . . . if it receives nourishment," Thomas E. Robinson, No. 1, p. 12

Publications
"An editor's 99-point communication audit—A review of the criterion for publication excellence," Robert L. Baker, No. 4, p. 8

Research
"Board members emphasize communication factors when selecting a superintendent of schools," R. E. Anderson, No. 3, p. 36
"Board presidents and superintendents assess importance of PR policy descriptors," Tricia Barber, No. 4, p. 36
"Colleges may have more than one image," William G. Parnell & H. Edward Lilley, No. 1, p. 39
"Direct contact is preferred means of communicating to and with public," L. R. Hyder & C. M. Achilles, No. 1, p. 38
"District information, media relations and newsletters seen as top PR activities," Terry Oberg, No. 4, p. 38
"Home reading programs help improve school-community relations," Judy C. Pierce, No. 3, p. 36
"Knowledge, honesty most important characteristics," Ruth L. Constant & Terry Oberg, No. 1, p. 37
"Participation improves student-school retention," David Hinojosa, No. 3, p. 37
"PR activities no panacea for changing opinion," Norman L. Whisler, No. 3, p. 37
"PR people on the 'team' have increased responsibility," Carolyn Dierksen, No. 2, p. 34
"Role of PR director is different if on the administrative team," Linda D. Kazemzadeh, No. 3, p. 37
"School district size has little effect on policy opinions of PR directors, Philip T. West, No. 4, p. 36
"School leaders rate communications skills tops," Malcolm F. Rainey, No. 1, p. 37
"Supts., directors of service centers differ on PR priorities," Robin B. Tolson, No. 2, p. 35

Tools
"Computers in the PR office—A detailed primer on how to select and use the best computer system for your office," Clem Cleveland, No. 4, p. 20
"The 1984 PR/Planning Guide—Tips to help communication specialists and principals find new and refreshing ways to relate to internal and external audiences," Bonnie Ellison, Joanie Flatt, Cass Franks, Nick Goble, Al Holliday, Mary Lindskog, Jeanne Magmer & Sam Zimmerman, No. 4, p. 11

Book Reviews
by Thomas E. Robinson
Building confidence in education: A practical approach for principals, Lew Armistead, No. 1, p. 40
Cream of the Kappan, Stanley M. Elam, No. 3, p. 31
Don't blame the kids: The trouble with America's public schools, Gene I. Maeroff, No. 2, p. 9
Editing the organizational publication, Edmund C. Arnold, No. 2, p. 10
Effective technical communication, Anne Eisenberg, No. 4, p. 34
Educating for a new millenium: Views of 132 international scholars, Harold G. Shane & M. Bernadine Tabler, No. 1, p. 41
The how and why of board and superintendent evaluation, National School Boards Association, No. 2, p. 10
How to run a school board campaign and win, Cipora O. Schwartz, No. 4, p. 35
Improving school climate: Leadership techniques for educators, Edgar A. Kelley, No. 3, p. 31
Legal issues in public school hearings, Robert E. Phay, No. 2, p. 9
New voices on the right: Impact on schools, Joseph P. Rowson, No. 3, p. 30
Non-parents and schools: Creating a new team, Jeanne R. Magmer, No. 3, p. 30
Public relations for public schools, Doyle M. Bortner, No. 4, p. 34
Public relations in the community college, Richard I. Trent, No. 1, p. 40
The quest for excellence: Making public schools more effective, Thomas E. Corcoran & Barbara J. Hansen, No. 4, p. 34
Regionalism: Past, present and future, E. Robert Stephens, No. 2, p. 11
School labor strife: Rebuilding the team, J. William Jones, No. 3, p. 30
School law in changing times, M. A. McGheney, No. 3, p. 31
Time on task: Using instructional time more effectively, American Association of School Administrators, No. 3, p. 32 ■